Subject: Re: Idaho DEQ Antidegradation Guidance - Public Comment Opens Today

The first thing that should be done is ban public use on, near, or around any Idaho water body. This would include streams, rivers, lakes, ponds, and or puddles. The second issue is public use right of our forest's and grasslands in Idaho...BAN it! Shut down every road, trail, or other viable entry route into these areas. Instead of chipping away slowly, let's just get er done! These are not the people's land, they are the governments. Thank you...

Folks,

DEQ has opened a 45-day public comment today on its antidegradation implementation guidance, which many of you participated in developing.

A notice is attached. The guidance document and comment form can be found on DEQ's website at: www.deq.idaho.gov/antidegradation
